

All Hunt Codes & Available Permit Numbers

A complete register of all 1,849 codes in the current Hunt Planner DATABASE snapshot, plus 13 conservation-crosswalk-only codes retained and explicitly flagged. Every row shows its published 2026 numeric permit total or an explicit no-number/status result. Exact EXPO allocations and conservation-permit coverage are separate overlays.

Published numeric permit totals are present on 1,168 codes. The 26 exact EXPO codes contain 41 EXPO permits already included in their Hunt Planner totals. Conservation coverage represents 336 annual 2025-27 permits across 271 area/condition records and reaches 418 eligible hunt codes.

*Important conservation reading rule: when one conservation permit covers several hunt codes, it is intentionally listed on every applicable code at the user's direction. The repeated conservation display therefore sums to 1,454 assignments and MUST NOT be treated as 1,454 distinct permits. The unduplicated statewide program total remains 336 annual permits.

DWR published permits are current hunt-code quota/availability references. EXPO is a subset only on the 26 exact reconciled codes; do not add it again. Conservation coverage is a separate special-permit overlay and is not converted into public draw quota or draw probability.

How to read the register

DWR published permits is the current permit_allotment_2026_total field. A dash means the current source does not publish a numeric public quota for that code; it does not erase a separately documented conservation permit shown in the conservation column. The status column explains conservation-only coverage, unlimited/availability-only hunts, private-land/operator assignments, historical/inactive codes, or a missing current numeric reference. Zero is retained as zero and is different from a dash.

Conservation coverage is derived from the 2025-27 conservation permit list and its species-aware area-to-hunt-code crosswalk. 'SHARED' means at least one displayed conservation permit can be used on more than one listed code. This makes each row useful to a hunter researching a code, but the column cannot be summed.
